MY PROFILE

Daniel Guzman

From: New Brunswick/East Brunswick, NJ

High School: East Brunswick H.S.

College: Rutgers University (New Brunswick)

Major: Biological Engineering

Racial/Ethnic Description: Hispanic/Chilean

Personal Interests: I love to play soccer, watch hockey, listen to music, play piano, DJ, travel, hike, exercise, and be outdoors!

Professional Goals/Interests: I'm interested in surgical specialties. I like hands-on learning, and my interest in orthopedics began at 11 when I tore my right ACL. As a first-generation Hispanic American who witnessed hardships that my parents encountered as immigrants, I developed a vested interest in serving other immigrants (especially Hispanics) and currently do so as an LMSA co-president. I've always loved teaching, and I hope to become an academic physician who teaches at a hospital or in a university setting and travels to underprivileged areas both within the U.S. and abroad to medically educate and treat individuals in need.
